“Cortical Vision Impairment in Pediatric Populations”

Presented by Tristen Dinkel, MSN, MSPC, BSN, CNRN, CPN

Children’s Hospital Colorado

Mrs. Dinkel is the program coordinator for Rett Syndrome. Since Rett Syndrome affects many aspects of a child's life such as eye sight, heart, lungs, bowel function, and pain just to name a few, these children are likely to be seen by several different specialists. Mrs. Dinkel is excited to come talk to us about Cerebral Vision Impairment and how we can help support these children when we see them either inpatient or outpatient.
